

Haemorrhoids

Report on the intake of aloe vera

I have been suffering from haemorrhoids for ages (more than ten years). This year I even underwent medical treatment. The success was minor. The haemorrhoids were somewhat smaller, did not bleed as often but did not disappear completely.

After recent surgery, I increasingly experienced events of bleeding and consequently decided to try aloe vera gel. I did not have to wait long to see results. After only 14 days I hardly had any complaints and bleeding whatsoever.

I will of course continue taking the product and will also attempt the external application of aloe products with the hope of complete healing.

Bedsore (decubitus ulcer)

I am a nurse and work in a senior citizens' and nursing home.

At the beginning of 2002, Mrs Z. had to go to hospital due to an infection. After several weeks she was discharged from the hospital with a fist-sized bedsore. We tried all kinds of treatment to heal the bedsore. Despite several different therapies, hourly repositioning and various attempts by different doctors the bedsore did not heal. On the contrary, the sore became larger and deeper. After all, Mrs Z. was also a diabetic as a result of which large wounds heal particularly badly. In July 2002 I was introduced to aloe vera drinking gel.

As the issue of bedsore was addressed in the 'Fliege' TV show with Michael Peuser, I decided to talk to Mrs L's doctor and family regarding treatment with aloe vera gel. Both agreed to my proposal. All nurses on our ward received information on aloe vera gel. Mrs Z. is administered 30 ml of gel four times a day. We packed the bedsore with compresses that had been soaked in aloe vera gel. The tamponade was changed three times a day. After only four months the bedsore is now merely the size of a EUR 2 coin. It is clearly healing from the inside out. All of us are more than enthusiastic.

Cysts

Hallo,

I have been suffering from purulent abscesses and boils in the area of the groin and armpits for more than 20 years. I have undergone surgery more than ten times, sometimes even without anaesthetic, sometimes as an inpatient in hospital under general anaesthetic. On top of that, I took different antibiotics two to three times a year in order to make my condition bearable and delay surgery. Since June 2004 I have had a permanent deep purulent abscess with several openings in my right armpit. There was no way around dressings and black salves (Ichtholan 50%). Surgery might have been an alternative solution, but one which I successfully avoided. For three weeks now I have been drinking 30 ml of aloe vera gel three times a day and initially use a spray containing aloe vera and then a cream containing aloe vera for local wound treatment. For about five days I have been able to go out and about without wound dressing and, what is more, free from pain. To me this is little short of a miracle. As of today, there will be no day without aloe vera gel.

Hallo,

I suffered from the effects of cysts for 25 years. It all started when I was twenty and the first cysts were found in my uterus. As I had not completed my family planning at that point in time, surgery was not an issue. By the time my 35th birthday came around there was no way of avoiding surgery as the constant pain had simply become unbearable. A total of 42 cysts were removed. I was hoping to experience a pain-free period and thought the cyst issue had been brought to a close. Nothing of the kind! Six years later lumps in both breasts were the cause of major worry and pain. After elaborate and painful examinations, my gynaecologist and my radiologist told me that both breasts were full of cysts. My gynaecologist suggested draining the cysts in regular approx. three-month intervals by means of needle aspiration. I am now 45 years old and have since undergone this painful procedure about every three months in order to avoid major surgery. Overall, I have undergone a total of 36 interventions of the inguinal area during which cysts were removed. Since the end of June I have been drinking 30 ml of aloe vera gel three times a day. These days I can neither feel nor sense any cysts. They are gone and I am free from pain. I am extremely happy. I have also been able to discontinue the interventions by my gynaecologist. Also, my digestion improved significantly. For many years I only had a bowel movement every three days and I was constantly bloated. Now I have a movement every morning. The furunculosis that I have been suffering from since I have been 23 is also gone. I had 36 operations and three corrective interventions due to the many scars. Thanks to aloe vera this will hopefully be a thing of the past.

Multiple sclerosis

You are most likely wondering how aloe vera gel and MS go together? The fact is that healing is NOT possible!

The existing symptoms, however, can be alleviated:

I have been suffering from MS since 1991. MS is an illness that causes numbness of the arms and legs, paralysis of the legs, and involves hospitalisation, treatment with cortisone and other strong medications, such as Betaferon. This medication was in fact intended to provide relief; however, I had to discontinue it due to numerous side effects. Until then, my quality of life was significantly reduced. In 2002, a good friend introduced me to aloe vera. As a result of using this gel, my general condition improved, the spasticity in my legs improved so that I could walk normally again. I experienced an improvement with regard to the movement of my feet and have since not had any relapses. My blood pressure has settled at a normal level of 140/80. Furthermore, I no longer have cramps that led to the removal of part of my bowels. In brief: since drinking aloe vera on a regular basis I have been free from complaints!
